I began my journey as a front-end developer in October 2023, attending a full-time intensive course at the Coding Academy of 24 Ore Business School. Here, I learned the fundamentals of web development and advanced technologies such as NgRx and RxJS.

Since March 2024, I have been working as a front-end developer, honing my skills in managing complex tasks, problem-solving, and coordinating remotely with the team to ensure timely project delivery.

During this period, I gained experience in using modern technologies like Dynamsoft, AG Grid, and ngx-datatable, significantly improving my ability to build dynamic and high-performance user interfaces.
